Chair, Nancy Clark called the meeting to order at 3:00 pm

Acting under the provisions of the Code of the Town of Barnstable, ss 112-1 through 112-7, the Historical Commission held a Public Hearing on the following applications previously determined significant and referred to Public Hearing:

APPLICATIONS

Travis, Nigel and Joanna, 283 Long Beach Road, Centerville, Map 185 Parcel 033/000, Built c. 1930.

Partial Demolition: To remove the existing porch and patio and to replace with a new covered porch and patio.

Represented by: Anthony DeBenedictis, the builder, as well as Nigel & Joanna Travis, the homeowners.

Public Comment: There was no public comment.

Discussion:

The agent noted that the current porch is in disrepair and needs to be replaced.

The columns are rotten wood. They need to be replaced regardless. The homeowners would like to extend the porch out to have shade as well as moderate rain protection. The proposed architecture was designed to match the style of the setting of the neighborhood. The proposed porch is similar to the other porches in the neighborhood. This is an update and an improvement which is in part due to the structural issues as well as provides better functionality. The windows will remain the same. The Palladian window will remain unchanged. The only alterations are the columns, stone patio, and the upper deck.

There was discussion about the submitted renderings and to ensure that the windows reflect the existing on the dwelling.

William D., and Sherry A., Lawson, 133 Gosnold Street, Hyannis, Map 324 Parcel 007/000, Built c. 1920.

Full Demolition: To demolish the existing structure at the property.

Represented by: Attorney Albert Schulz, William & Sherry Lawson, homeowners.

Public Comment:

Peter Cross commented that there are some significant architectural houses in the area. He noted that this should be reconsidered and allow the house to be razed and new construction continue Emily Mezzetti commented that there is nothing architecturally significant about the structure. She fully supports the plan and the new construction will enhance the neighborhood.

There was a motion made by Chair Clark to close the public hearing.

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Kay.

So voted:

Aye: Kay, Fifield, Powell, Parks, Shoemaker, Debiase, Clark

Discussion:

Attorney Schulz represented the homeowners. He stated that the homeowners were seeking to reverse the demolition delay for 133 Gosnold Street, Hyannis. He has reviewed the meeting video as well as surveyed the property and the surrounding neighborhood. The property is not historically or architecturally significant. He noted that he is not an architect, but does not see anything architecturally significant about this structure. Neighbors have spoken in favor of this project.

Shoemaker commented that she has studied the structure and the surrounding neighborhood. She commended the homeowners to advertise the property to be salvaged. She stated that previous comments that were made were incorrect. This property is historically significant and very important to Hyannis. Shoemaker is sad to see the property demolished. She would like to take pictures of the structure before it is demolished, if voted upon, to add to the historical record of the Town.

Parks noted that she concurred with Shoemaker's comment. This was likely a working person's house. She agreed that the homeowners have done their due diligence to advertise the property. There are two houses in this architectural style located in Cotuit.

Powell agreed with the previous comments. It is historically significant as it would not be before the Commission if it were not.

Fifield wondered if advertising in the summer would help salvage the structure. There was a clarification that the historical commission could post a sign on the property via Section 112 noting historic structures that come before the Commission.

Kay found it interesting to see that there were so many neighbors that have spoken about the property and demonstrates a sense of community.

Chair Clark posed a question to the Commission to either continue the structure for more time to advertise the property to be salvaged or to make a decision at the meeting.

There was a motion made by Chair Clark to close the public hearing.

The motion was seconded by Parks.

So voted:

Aye: Shoemaker, Kay, Fifield, Powell, Parks, Debiase, Clark

Nay:

Abstain:

Park City Wind Presentation about Nantucket Sound Wind Farm Installation

The presentation was made by and represented by: Pat Johnson, Hans van Lingen, Elizabeth Johnson, Erin Harizi, and Even Ridley of Park City Wind as well as Holly Carlson Johnson of Epsilon Associates. .

Presentation: The wind turbines will be south of Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard. These will not be located in Nantucket Sound. The cables will land in Covell's Beach. Avangrid Renewable is a joint venture with Vineyard Wind. The presentation is for the Park City Wind project. It is currently in the permitting process and the cables will land on Craigville Beach. The Town Council has embraced this opportunity. This is a way to receive revenue to fund the wastewater management project. This construction is schedules with sewer installation. This co construction will save the Town considerable money. It is a great opportunity to improve the environment. The majority of the construction will be on the offseason; colder months. This will bring direct power to this region. There have been many power plants that have retired and therefore this is needed. This will stabilize the electric grid in southeastern Massachusetts. This will be significant for job creation.

In terms of state permitting, they are complete through MEPA. Federal permitting is ongoing. The Notice of Intent application has been submitted to Nantucket as well as one to Edgartown. They have submitted a Notice of Intent to the Barnstable Conservation Commission which has been referred to the Cape Cod Commission for a mandatory referral for a Development of Regional Impact. The onshore construction is projected for 2023.
